BAIT AND SWITCH: A FORMER STUDENT'S GUIDE TO ONLINE ASTROLOGY FRAUD

Digital Consumer Watchdog (Student Division)

> STATEMENT OF PURPOSE
>
> This guide, written from the perspective of a defrauded student, breaks down the exact mechanics of the 'bait-and-switch' tactics used by online astrology platforms in 2026. It serves as a manual for prospective students to identify red flags before committing financially to deceptive spiritual courses.

1. The Illusion of the Master

In 2026, the online astrology market is dominated by charismatic figures who build massive followings on YouTube and social media. I was drawn in by one of these figures, believing I was enrolling in a prestigious academy. I am writing this guide to expose the reality of astrology course scams online. If you are wondering are expensive astro courses worth it, you must first understand the mechanics of the bait-and-switch.

2. The Reality of the Deceptive Course

The primary scam is the lunar astro deceptive course structure. You pay a premium fee believing you will be taught by the master you saw online. In reality, the 'consultations' and 'advanced classes' are frequently outsourced to junior students or automated systems. The profound insights promised in the marketing material are replaced by generic, copy-pasted readings. When you complain that you did not receive the service advertised, the platform simply ignores you or blocks your account.

3. The Trap of Hidden Costs

The bait-and-switch extends to the pricing model. The advertised tuition is a lie. Once enrolled, you are hit with a barrage of hidden costs in online astrology courses. You are told that to truly understand the curriculum, you must purchase their specific software. You are told your chart requires a specific, expensive gemstone that only they can provide. The educational platform quickly reveals itself to be a high-pressure retail environment.

4. The Worthless Diploma

To keep students compliant, the platform dangles the promise of graduation. However, the end result is a fake astrology certification. This document is entirely self-issued and holds no weight in the traditional Jyotish community. It is a digital participation trophy designed to make you feel like your thousands of dollars were well spent.

5. How They Hide the Complaints

Before you enroll, you will likely search for reviews. Be warned: the platforms actively manipulate their online reputation. Genuine lunar astro course reviews and complaints are buried under an avalanche of fake, 5-star reviews generated by proxy accounts. If a student posts a negative review, they are threatened with 'cyber cell tracking' and legal action. Do not trust the star ratings; trust the detailed, negative reviews that the platform is desperately trying to hide.